

“Eden Hall Campus will be the first in the world built from the ground up for the study of sustainable living, learning, and development. Using the latest in environmentally responsible technology, design and innovation, Eden Hall will be self-sustaining in every way by producing zero carbon emissions and more energy than it consumes.”

<http://www.chatham.edu/edenhall>

at a glance

- First campus in North America to apply for SITES through the Sustainable Sites Initiative
- 704 trees
- 26, 151 sf of rain gardens
- 7,074 sf of bioretention areas
- 41,983 sf of permeable paving or 57% of all new paving will be permeable

